Canadian Studies Network/Réseau d'études canadiennes

The Canadian Studies Network/Réseau d'études canadiennes is dedicated to serving the purposes of scholars — including faculty, students, and independent researchers — involved in the study of Canada through Canadian Studies programs or within other disciplines at the post-secondary level in Canada.

Membership in the Network is open to all who share its objectives. Being a member allows you access to the "Members' Only" section of the website. Here you will find a wide array of information and resources about Canadian Studies programs in Canada, including:

- A member's blog, where you can communicate with other Canadian Studies students and faculty across Canada.
- Our bi-annual newsletter, with up-to-date information about new programs and activities.
- Job postings for Canadian Studies graduates.
- Learning opportunities for Canadian Studies students, including national exchange programs.
- Calls for papers and announcements about upcoming conferences in Canada.
- Announcements and reviews of current publications affiliated with Canadian Studies departments.
- A full list of all Canadian Studies programs in Canada (graduate programs and associations included) as well as links to their websites.
- The minutes of the CSN-REC annual general meetings.
